

UPDATE – INPEX LARRAKIA ADVISORY COMMITTEE

INPEX Larrakia Advisory Committee and community benefits trust

INPEX as the operator of the Ichthys LNG project in Darwin is establishing a community benefits trust with the Larrakia Traditional Owners in the Northern Territory.

The Larrakia community benefits trust will be funded by INPEX and the Ichthys LNG joint venture partners in recognition that the land used to construct and host the gas plant at Bladin Point is on Larrakia traditional lands.

The Larrakia community benefits trust will receive applications and will be supported by an independent trustee, who will oversee the management and distribution of the funds.

This initiative forms part of INPEX and the Ichthys LNG joint venture's commitment to progressing the social and economic opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples.

Ichthys LNG Project - update

The Ichthys LNG project is a large energy project that involves an offshore gas processing facility, an 890 kilometre pipeline to transport gas and oil to Darwin and a liquefied natural gas plant in Darwin at Bladin Point.

INPEX Larrakia Advisory Committee

The INPEX Larrakia Advisory Committee has been established by INPEX to form an open two-way dialogue with the Larrakia community and INPEX. The committee consists of Larrakia men and women, who will be able to provide advice to the Company across a range of social and economic initiatives.

INPEX chose the committee members, based on their personal skills and backgrounds as business operators, academic or people with social and cultural expertise.

A representative from both the Larrakia Nation Aboriginal Corporation and the Larrakia Development Corporation are on the committee.

The INPEX Larrakia Advisory Committee will share its thoughts with INPEX on the project and discuss economic, cultural, environment and social areas of interest and opportunity for all Larrakia families.
